I not only applaud Mrs. Wilma King Means, but ask all individuals interested in the same educational advantages for our children to do the same. Make sure your children, grandchildren, and neighborhood children's schools are giving equal advantages to all children.

After noticing a trend across the system of faculty and staff displaying their college pennants, but none of hers, Mrs. Wilma King Means pictured above with Dr. Chris Lowder, Superintendent of Cabarrus County Schools presented 7 Winston - Salem State University Pennants during a board meeting and asked that they be displayed in the local high schools.

Her gesture was done in an effort to introduce more students and staff to a diverse array of colleges and universities. Means is celebrating Black History Month with a challenge to alumni, alumna, alumna and friends to donate pennants or flags to Middle and High Schools in their areas.
